Directions: (For Questions 44-48) Read the following passage and answer the questions given below:

Unhappiness and discontent spring not only from poverty. Man is a strange creature, fundamentally different from others. He aims for distant horizons, invincible hopes, creative energies and spiritual powers. If they remain unfulfilled, he may have all the comforts which wealth can give, but still feel that life is not worthwhile. The great humanist writers, Shaw, Wells, Arnold Bennett and Galsworthy, who are regarded as the prophets of the dawn, expose the foibles, inconsistencies and weaknesses of modern life. In the void left by the removal of tradition, morality and religion, others put in vague sentiments of race and power. The modern mind is shaped by Rousseau's Social Contract, Marx's Capital, Darwin's On the Origin of Species and Spengler's The Decline of the West. The outward chaos and confusion of our life reflect the confusion of our hearts and minds. Constitutions, says Plato, are "but the reflection in the outside world of the values which prevail in men's minds." There must be a change in the ideals we cherish, in the values we adopt, before we can express them publicly. We help to secure the future only to the extent to which we ourselves are transformed. What is missing in our age is the soul; there is nothing wrong with the body. We suffer from sickness of spirit. We must discover our roots in the eternal and regain faith in the transcendent truth which will order life, discipline discordant elements and bring unity and purpose to life. If not, when the floods come and the winds blow and beat upon our house, it will fall.

44. According to the author in what respects is man different from other animals?

- In power of speech
- In the instinct of gregariousness
- In optimism, divine powers and creative vigour
- Stupidity

  - Vague sentiments of race and power
  - None
- Only I is correct
  - Only II is correct
  - Only III is correct
  - Only I and II is correct

47. What do the chaos and confusion of our life reflect?
- The economic advancement of man
  - The moral turpitude
  - The confusions of our human hearts and minds
  - Changes in the natural environment

48. The author implies that if the soul is not regained _____
- Material evolution will be in peril
  - The society will be ruined
  - The world will be in a pandemonium
  - Life expectancy will reduce
